Call for Entries – 2007 GE Edison Award

Deadline for entries: 10 January 2008

GE Consumer & Industrial announces a call for entries for the 25th-Annual GE Edison Award program.

The 2007 GE Edison Award competition is open to those lighting professionals who creatively employ significant use of GE light sources (lamps and/or LEDs) in a lighting design project completed during the 2007 calendar year. Entries must be submitted by mail and must arrive no later than 10 January 2008.

A panel of lighting professionals, including one representative from GE, will judge entries using a point scale based on the following criteria:

- Functional excellence (15 points)
- Architectural compatibility (15 points)
- Effective use of state-of-the-art lighting products and techniques (15 points)
- Appropriate color, form and texture revelation (15 points)
- Energy effectiveness (15 points)
- Cost effectiveness (15 points)
- Additional features (10 points)

Projects scoring the highest number of points will qualify for Awards of Merit and Awards of Excellence. The GE Edison Award Winner is selected from among the Awards of Excellence.

Awards for Sustainable Design are given to those projects that demonstrate exemplary, sustainable lighting design. These designs, while providing high-quality lighting, should minimize the use of energy, maximize the use of daylighting, avoid skyward illumination and ensure system durability and maintainability. The Award for Residential Design is selected by the judges based on existing entry criteria.

Qualifying entries remain anonymous throughout the judging process and are evaluated equally, regardless of type or size of project. The identity of the 2007 GE Edison Award Winner remains confidential until it is announced at the Awards ceremony, which will take place 27 May 2008 in Las Vegas, Nevada, USA the evening prior to the opening of LightFair International.
